ART EXHIBITION

Our Natural World: Paintings and Ceramics by John Hunt

John Hunt's interest in representational art and the environment began with a fascination for aerial views. The experience of flying in a plane, gazing down at the landscape from above, sparked an intrigue in the patterns and formations below. From ground level, one's perspective is limited, but from high altitudes, the imprints of human activity, as well as natural features shaped by erosion, geological events, and underwater formations, come into clear view.

In the Display Case:

November: Honoring Our Veterans

December: Ceramic works by John Hunt
